Mrs. Whaley Dies in Paris.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foster Whaley, widow of the late Wm. B. Whaley, died Friday morning at her home in East Paris, after a lingering illness of general debility. She was in the eighty-fourth year of her age and was born and reared in Bourbon county, and was a most estimable woman and kind mother and good neighbor, her loved by all who knew her. She was a daughter of Jesse and Patsy Foster, and of her union with Mr. Wm. B. Whaley was born seven children, of whom five survive, two daughters having died. The surviving children are Mrs. W. L. Hall, of Nicholas county, and Messrs. H. C. Whaley, Horton L. Whaley, James W. Whaley and Thomas Whaley, all of Paris. She is also survived by twelve grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Whaley was the last surviving member of the first congregation of the Christian Church in Clintonville, which was founded in 1855.—Kentuckian-Citizen.

Mrs. Whaley was a grandmother of Mrs. W. Hoffman Wood, of this city, and was a most estimable woman.

There'll Be Something Doing.

For some time there has been a friendly rivalry between Mr. T. Clay, of Bourbon, and Judge J. H. Kemper, of this city, as to which is the best trap shooter and entitled to the honor of being champion of Kentucky. To finally settle the question Mr. Clay has challenged Judge Kemper to shoot at 1,000 targets, each without intermission, except such as may be necessary for the cooling of the guns. Judge Kemper has accepted the challenge and the match will come off next month at the Fayette Gun Club, near Lexington, and it is expected that a very large crowd will witness the contest.

Judge Kemper has many friends here who are confident that he will win the event.

Off for the Fairs.

Poyntz Bean, G. C. Anderson, A. B. Setters and J. K. Shropshire left Monday with five head of horses to race at Somerset and Monticello fairs. Among the horses are such good performers as Crap-shooter and Grace Cecil, the latter being the winner of three or four good races this season and is a first class race mare. Their many friends wish them a profitable trip.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Sarah Goldberg, of Providence, Rhode Island, and Mr. Max Glick, of this city, the marriage ceremony to take place in the late fall. The bride-to-be is said to be a very lovely and attractive young woman. Mr. Glick is the well known and popular young clothing merchant of this city.

Gun Club.

Much interest is being shown in the organization of a gun club by the young men of the city and county. It is their purpose to give a shoot every Friday afternoon during the fall. The club hopes to give their first shoot next Friday.

Infant Dies.

On Monday morning a beautiful baby was born to the wife of Mr. Norman D. Brown (nee Miss Fannie Groves) and died soon after birth. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have our deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Spices of all kinds at Vanarsdell's.

INJURED.

W. S. Hamilton Thrown from His Buggy and Badly Bruised.

Last Sunday afternoon while on his way to visit his brother in Menifee county, who was sick, W. S. Hamilton was thrown from his buggy, sustaining severe bruises on his right side and badly cutting his hand.

The horse driven by Mr. Hamilton stumbled and broke the check rein and jerked the bride off his head and started to run. Mr. Hamilton in attempting to get out of the buggy was caught in the wheel and thrown violently to the ground. We are glad to report that though his injuries are rather severe, they are not considered serious.

Paris Hotel Burns.

A fire which broke out shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon almost destroyed the right wing of the Windsor Hotel and for a while threatened the entire structure as well as valuable adjoining property. Between forty and fifty guests were seated in the dining room, and when the alarm of fire was sounded they made a hasty exit from the burning structure. The mother of Landlord McLeary's wife, who is 89 years of age, was carried from the building and much furniture was removed to places of safety.

The dining room was historic, as Henry Clay, Gen. Winfield Scott, Garrett Davis, James G. Blaine, Jefferson Davis, President Andrew Johnson and hundreds of notable men have partaken of meals within its walls, and for more than thirty years the annual ball of the old Bourbon Fair was given on its floors.

The loss was between $6,000 and $8,000. A defective flue was the cause.

Changes at the Pool Room.

Mr. Robert Young has resigned his position at the pool room, to take effect September 1. He will be succeeded by Mr. L. G. Howard. Mr. Gilbert Triplett will take Mr. Howard's place. Mr. Young will go to Pineville, where, in partnership with J. C. Cooper, will open a pool and billiard room.

Visitors to Our City.

R. F. Penn, of Louisville, traveling passenger agent of the L. & St. L. Ry., and W. H. Harrison, Lexington, traveling passenger agent of the L. & N. Ry., were in our city last Wednesday in the interest of their respective roads. Both of them are clever, hustling gentlemen.

Sells Fine Farm.

O. B. Clark has sold his farm of 106 acres on Winchester pike, with the growing crops, at $150 per acre, to R. L. Conlee, of Powell county, the purchaser to pay for the improvements. This is the farm Mr. Clark purchased of H. R. Prewitt last fall. Possession given October 15.

The Junior Dance.

The Junior Dancing Club gave a delightful dance last Friday night. There was a large crowd present and all had an excellent time. A local orchestra furnished the music.

BASE BALL.

Waysville Gets Shelbyville's Franchise in Blue Grass League.

Manager Kuhn, of the Shelbyville team, has turned over the franchise of the Shelbyville Club in the Blue Grass League to President User, who disposed of same to Waysville for $200.

Shelbyville people do not approve of the action of Manager Kuhn in the matter, as they were willing to put up the necessary money and wanted the team to remain in Shelbyville.

Mt. Sterling had an excellent opportunity to break into the League, but our people didn't seem to want the team.

Reunion of Confederate Veterans.

Col. W. B. Hildeman, Major General, has issued a call for a reunion of the Confederate Veterans of the Kentucky division to be held at the Confederate Home, Pewee Valley, September 16. CRAZY NEGRO Starts Rough House at County Jail and Causes Jailer Wil- a Good Deal of Trouble.

Arch Mickens, colored, who became suddenly insane last Monday night was locked in the women's department of the county jail, but soon broke all the windows and was removed to another department of the jail and for a while was quiet. However, in a short time he again started breaking windows and tearing up mattresses. Jailer Wilson then locked him in the steel cage.

He was tried in the County Court yesterday and sent to the asylum at Lexington.

Double Tragedy.

Slashing his wife's throat with a large knife while she lay asleep early Monday morning, J. C. Crump, a farmer, then ran into the yard of his home, at McKimney, Ky., and almost severed his own head with the same weapon. Crump died immediately. His wife is fatally wounded. Crump, who was 65 years old, is believed to have been temporarily insane.

FARMER'S INSTITUTE.

Met in Mt. Sterling, Friday and Saturday.--Some able discourses delivered.

The Montgomery County Farmer's Institute met in this city, Friday and Saturday. The meeting was an excellent one, although the attendance was not what it should have been. The people in Kentucky do not attend these meetings like they do in the North, where they always have a packed house. The meeting was a very instructive one and the audience paid close attention. Able and learned addresses were delivered by Messrs Amos Hall, W. T. Kane and George P. Rogers.

Resolutions were passed urging that the next State Farmers Institute be held in this city.

The following officers were elected: T. J. Bigstaff, President; J. T. Conns, Vice-President; J. R. Hobbs, Secretary; Maj. D. J. Barlett was elected delegate to the State Institute with J. T. Conns and J. R. Hobbs as alternates.

County Sunday School Convention

The Annual Convention of the Montgomery County Sunday School Association will be held at the Methodist church in this city Wednesday, Sept. 14.

The highly esteemed State Worker Mr. Vaughn will be present and address the Convention both morning and afternoon, giving in one address his impressions of the great World's Sunday School Convention held in Washington.

Talented local speakers will also be on the program, with good music in large measure. It is expected to be one of the most interesting and instructive conventions ever held in the county. Every one interested in Sunday School work is most earnestly and cordially invited.

It will be remembered in what an elegant and bountiful manner the city churches entertained the convention last year so we feel that we voice the sentiment of the country churches when we say that they should not be allowed to do so again.

So every family is requested to bring their own lunch. It will be served in the small yard adjoining the church if the weather is good, if not, in the Sunday School room.

B. F. Horton, County President, Mrs. B. F. Perry, County Sec.

ABNER WAS WARNED.

"We've Come to Kill You," Said Man Who Then Shot Him.

The killing of John Abner at Jackson Monday night apparently was witnessed by only one person other than the assassins themselves, and that was Barron Miller, who was with Abner at the time he was killed.

Abner had come to Jackson from his home during the afternoon and was walking down the street toward the river bridge, between the store of M. S. Cain and the malt mead stand of Govan Smith, accompanied by Barron Miller, one of his friends, when he was called to by two men.

Abner started the men, leaving Miller some twenty feet away, and when within about ten feet of the gate he was told by the men that they had come to kill him. They fired three shots into Abner's body and he fell in the street, and died instantly. One of the shots took effect in the right lung and two in the left thigh.

No one was about or near the place of the shooting except Miller and the men who did the shooting, who made their escape without being observed by anyone. Miller did not recognize either of the men.

Some criticism of the authorities was heard for their failure to give immediate chase to the criminals, but the night was very dark and their capture would have been impossible at that hour.

Many heard the shots but nothing was thought of the matter, as such noises are common in Jackson, and but few knew of the tragedy until the following morning. Practically no alarm was given at the time except to summon medical aid, which was of no avail, as Abner had died instantly.

Captain V. G. Mullikin returned from Jackson Tuesday evening and reported that he had met with no success in trailing the murderers of Abner on account of the fact that many persons had been allowed to go about the scene of the murder. Captain Mullikin started his dogs at the place the assassins were supposed to have been and finally they picked up a scent, but it only led to a house where a woman lived. The dogs were tried again, but were unable to find another clue.

Captain Mullikin stated that the authorities suspect three men of complicity in the murder, two of them having left the town shortly before Captain Mullikin arrived.

RACING NOTES

On Horses and Horsemen In and Around Lexington.

Work was started Wednesday morning on the extension and improvement of the betting shed at the Kentucky Association track and when the fall races begin here September 19, the old shed will be so much changed that those horsemen who have been coming here for years will hardly be able to recognize it.

The shed itself will be much larger and roomier permitting the installation of more pari-mutual machines, while the room used as a clearing house will be bigger and better than ever. This room will be located much closer to the fence separating the paddock from the grand stand along side the betting shed to the paddock gate. The improvement is one of the biggest yet undertaken by the Association and is in line with a number of changes which they have in view, all of equal importance.

The stable of Major Thomas C. McDowell, the master of Asland Stud, was due to arrive in Lexington Wednesday night from Saratoga. In the string are King's Daughter, Huck, Allen-a-bale, Berwick and Dodson. The two-year-olds Attentive and Premier will be transferred to the track Thursday and Major McDowell will then devote his time in "propping" his splendid string for the fall season in Kentucky. He will be the first of the Eastern turfmen to arrive here, but many more are expected in the next two weeks.

John McLaughlin, the best pool seller in America, arrived home Tuesday night from West Baden where he has been for two weeks. Mr. McLaughlin will handle the auction pools on all the Kentucky tracks this fall and with the east-enders here bids fair to set a siz- zling pace for all comers.

Racing Secretary William Shelley, of the Kentucky Association, will arrive from Louisville to put the final touches on the arrangements for "our greatest thoroughbred race meeting." Mr. Shelley is one of the most competent racing officials of the country. He has written Secretary G. D. Wilson that he will bring applications for stall room from fully thirty trainers.

"Sure Cure"

"I would like to guide suffering women to a sure cure for female troubles," writes Mrs. R. E. Mercer, of Frozen Camp, W. Va. "I have found no medicine equal to Cardui. I had suffered for about four years. Would have had headache for a week at a time, until I would be nearly crazy. I took Cardui and now I never have the headache any more."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

The pains from which many women suffer every month are unnecessary. It's not safe to trust to strong drugs, right at the time of the pains. Better to take Cardui for a while, before and after, to strengthen the system and cure the cause. This is the sensible, scientific, right way. Try it.

kimotomy.

An excited man rushed into the General Hospital in Buffalo and demanded to see his wife, who had come there for an operation that afternoon. He said his name was James Hawkins.

The hospital authorities could remember no operation on a Mrs. Hawkins, and there was no record of such an operation on the books.

"Your wife is not here," they said to Hawkins.

"I know she is," persisted Hawkins.

"But she isn't. We have no Mrs. Hawkins here."

"Where is she then? She said she was going to the hospital for an operation. I found a note from her when I got home."

"Let me see the note," demanded the doctor, and when Hawkins handed it to him he read: "Dear Jim: I have gone to have my kimono cut out. Lizzie."

Robbers Hold Up C. & O. Crew in Lewis County.

While a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train was standing on the siding at Quick Run, Lewis county, armed highwaymen August 25, entered the caboose, covered Conductor James Wheeler and other members of the crew with revolvers, held them up, ransacked the car for money and valuables, but secured no money. Conductor Wheeler attempted resistance and was shot at twice, but was unhurt. The thieves escaped. As the train crew had only a day or two before received their pay, it is supposed the highwaymen were after this money. There is no clue as to the identity of the would-be robbers.

MRS. CUDAHY

Obtains a Divorce From Her Husband For "Incompatibility" of Temper.

A sequel to Jack Cudahy's attack on Jere S. Lillis in the Cudahy residence, March 5, last, Mrs. Cudahy obtained a divorce from her husband. The decree was granted by Judge James H. Slover on the grounds of incompatibility of temper, ten minutes after Mrs. Cudahy had filed her petition.

Mrs. Cudahy and her maid, Elizabeth Johnson, were the only witnesses. "To protect the children," was the reason given by the attorneys that no charge other than incompatibility was made in the bill.

Immediately after the decree had been granted, Mrs. Cudahy left for Chicago with her children. She will take her children to the home of their grandparents. It is understood that she will return to Kansas City to make her home. Her friends say that she received the furnishing of the residence of Thirty-sixth and Walnut streets.

With the granting of the divorce the rumor that Mrs. Cudahy would enter vaudeville was revived. She is known to have a standing offer of $1,000 a week for thirty weeks.

Mr. Cudahy was given the right to visit the children at all reasonable times and places and for such periods as may be reasonable and proper.

Repeats Street's feat.

Catcher "Billy" Sullivan, of the Chicago Americans, repeated the feat of Catcher Charles Street, of the Washington American League team, last year, in catching a baseball thrown from a window at the top of the Washington monument, a perpendicular drop of 542 feet. The ball was tossed from the top of the monument by Pitcher Ed Walsh, of the Chicago team. It was only after twenty-three attempts that Sullivan finally caught the ball, although he succeeded several times in so gauging the sphere as to get it in his mitt. The speed of the falling ball was so terrific, however, that he was unable to hold it. It is estimated that the ball was traveling at the rate of 161 feet a second when caught.

Several members of the Chicago team, including Collins and "Doc" White; Trainer Quirk, of the Washington team and a few government officials witnessed the feat. While the feat has been attempted many times in past years, only Street heretofore was able to accomplish it. His feat was performed during the summer of 1908 upon the thirteenth attempt.

GREAT SIRE

Gambetta Wilkes, Chief Speed Producer of Harness Horses, Dies at Danville.

Gambetta Wilkes is dead. One of the greatest sires of harness speed that ever lived died at the stable of his owners, G. & C. P. Cecil, in Boyle county, last week. His death was the result of general debility and old age, for he was 29 years old, and had lived far past the allotted time for horses.

As a sire of speed no horse ever approached Gambetta Wilkes. Two hundred and twelve standard performers attest this fact. Standard horses are horses that have trotted to a record of 2:30 or paced to a record of 2:25. He sired two hundred and twenty-one in 2:30 list but nine of them were pacers that went faster than 2:30, but that could not reach the coveted mark of 2:20.

This wonderful horse was by George Wilkes. His dam was Jewel, she by Vermont 104. Gambetta Wilkes was brought to Danville as a three-year-old, by the Cecil brothers. He took a record of 2:19 and then was put at the head of what he, himself, was destined to make one of the most celebrated breeding establishments in the world.

The chief mourner because of the death of Gambetta Wilkes is Paul Helm, a negro hostler, who for a quarter of a century has been his groom and daily attendant. Old Paul is desolate for he loved this horse and was his companion in his youth, in his prime and in his equine dotage.

Refused $1,000.

Hans Wagner, Pittsburgh's shortstop, just lates money. It leaked out that the German refused $1,000 to play 10 games of exhibition baseball with Tex Rickard's National League baseball team, which, with a team from the American League intended to play exhibition games in 10 different cities of the country after the close of the regular season.

Rickard first wrote Hans that he would give him $700. The German refused to consider the offer. Then Rickard wrote something like this:

"My Dear Wagner: I will boost that figure to $1,000. Will you play in my backyard. Yours, Rick."

In the last letter Rickard offered to give Wagner a certified check, which was to have been delivered on August 20. The shortstop refused the money.

According to the figures offered Wagner would have drawn about $1,000 a minute. He turned it down. Can you beat it?

ITALIAN PRISON HORRORS

Term of the Convict Begins With Solitary Confinement That Is Worse Than Death.

If Porter Charlton is not insane he probably will be within one year from the time he is sent back to Italy. He, indeed, he is turned over to this government, the Baltimore American says. That is the firm belief of everyone who knows anything regarding Italian prisons and punishment.

Every prisoner convicted in Italy must begin his sentence with a term of solitary confinement, lengthened according to the total sentence imposed. There is no capital punishment.

The solitary confinement portion of Charlton's sentence would be served in a stone cell, under the level of the street, where no light may ever penetrate. The cell is 4 feet long, 5 feet high and 3 feet wide. Usually it is infested with rats and vermin. Along the side of the cell is an 18 inch board six feet long. This must serve as a bed and chair.

At the top of the door of the cell is a narrow hole, through which, however, no light can come. Through this hole food is passed twice a day. During the solitary confinement period this food consists of nothing but soup, bread and water.

A pitcher of water is allowed in the room. There is no other furniture. As there is not enough light to read, the prisoner must simply sit with his thoughts, day after day. He has no reckoning of time. He does not know night from day. He may think—that is all.

One hour each day he will be allowed to walk in the narrow courtyard of the prison, not with the other prisoners, but in a narrow walled space reserved for his use. He will not even see his guards at this time, though they will watch him. He will never hear the sound of a human voice. He will receive no letters nor write any.

Bresci, the Patterson (N. J.) anarchist who killed King Humbert, could stand only three months of this solitary imprisonment. Then he strangled himself with his bed quilt. Two other men who attempted the king's life are still alive, but both are hopeless imbeciles, driven mad by the early solitary confinement.

A great agitation is sweeping over Italy now for a modification of this form of confinement, but it has had little weight with the government, which abolished capital punishment at the demand of the people and substituted this form of punishment.

Royal Maids' Liversies.

All the maids at Buckingham palace wear print frocks in the morning and must put on a fresh frock every day. In the afternoon the regulation black dress with cap and apron is worn, and the cap and apron must not be worn more than once.

Each maid is allowed, if she desires it, two days in the month when she can be out from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., and she also gets a fortnight's holiday every year.

There are a certain number of maid servants who are put on what is called the traveling staff. It is the special duty of these maids to attend to the packing of the personal luggage of the queen, and they receive a special training in this work. At least two of these maids always travel with the royal suite whenever her majesty moves from one royal residence to another, though, of course, at each royal residence there is a separate permanent staff of maids, says Home Chat.

When her majesty pays a visit to any country house two traveling maids accompany the royal suite, which is generally a small one, consisting of a couple of ladies-in-waiting and one or two other members of the household.

Try to Blow Up Residence of Judge Plummer.

An attempt was made to blow up the home of Police Judge Jas. E. Plummer, of Carlisle, last week. Judge Plummer, when questioned regarding the affair, said that someone had set off a stick of dynamite or some other high explosive near the kitchen of his home after the family had retired. The shock from the explosion shattered several windows and did some damage to the old home.

Judge Plummer for the past eight months has been Police Judge of Carlisle, and has been successful in bringing violators of the city ordinances to justice. During the month of August he has held in his court about eighteen trials. It is believed by his friends that persons who have been fined by Judge Plummer know something about the attempt to damage his home.

The police have a clue.

It has been officially announced from Castlemore that James R. Keene, the millionaire New York turfman, will not retire from the turf. The announcement came from Mrs. F. A. To Swear or Not to Swear.

A woman was called before one of the New York police courts as a witness in a petty case.

"Swear to me, witness," said the judge.

"I don't want to," she protested.

"But you must."

"Must I swear?"

"Certainly; do not delay this trial."

"Well," she said, "if I must I suppose I must—barn!"

The Meanest Ever.

The meanest trick ever perpetrated upon a horse was that which a girl's pet spring upon an Arlington Heights woman who stayed longer than the old man's stock of patience could last. He finally appeared at the head of the stable and began to sing "The Morning Light is breaking; the Darkness Disappears."

I. C. GRAFT $4,000,000

Figures for Directors Alleged to Total This Amount.

That the graft in the Illinois Central may reach $4,000,000 was indicated when audit figures prepared for the board of directors during several years became public. Another development came when Detective William Burns, who has been conducting the graft investigation for the road, suddenly left Chicago for Memphis. This was followed by a report that one of the most important witnesses for the Illinois Central, a grafter who had confessed, had disappeared and that Burns had gone to find him.

Expert auditors declare that the annual reports of the Illinois Central show that grafting in the road was widespread, and as far back as 1907 bore a suspicious look. The report of June 30, 1907, shows that while the gross earnings of that fiscal year increased $5,000,000 and maintenance of way figures showed a slight decrease, the cost of maintenance of equipment showed the enormous increase of $1,800,000, most of this being in the car and locomotive repair figures.

Nearly all this increase of $1,800,000 in one year was caused by graft, it is believed, and from these figures, experts declared, indications were the graft might reach $4,000,000, or even more.

Other indications of the huge extent of the graft are shown by the figures on the average cost of freight car repairs. Last year they were a cent and a half per mile, while the general railroad average was seven-tenths of a cent, less than half the cost of the loaded road. Some of the railroad officials admit that fully $3,000,000 was stolen, but none would say that the sum might reach $1,000,000 more.

President Harahan refused to comment on these figures, but was willing to make a statement of the Coughlin charges.

He Forgot.

"What's that string on your finger for?"

"To remind me of something I am to get for my wife."

"What have you to get?"

MISS STOKES

Makes a Sensational Mile--Goes the Distance in 2:10 1-2, the Best So Far This Year.

The most sensational mile to be trotted at Lexington so far this year was recorded Wednesday morning when the good two-year-old filly, Miss Stokes, the pride of the Patchen Wilkes Farm and the holder of the world's record for a mile by a yearling trotter, stepped the circuit at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association track in 2:10 1-2.

At the time when this splendid work was done the track was fairly alive with interested spectators including a large number of trainers. Some few caught the mile in 2:10 1-2, but the watches of the great majority stopped at 2:10 1-2. Ed Willis, the colored superintendent of the Patchen Wilkes Farm which is owned by W. E. D. Stokes, was in the sulky behind Miss Stokes. She was driven out in making the time.

Miss Stokes is by Peter the Great, out of Tillie Thompson. During the Colored Fair last year she gave the trotting world a sensation by going a mile in the remarkable time of 2:19 1-2, thereby setting a new world's record. On her performance of Wednesday she gave promise of doing even greater stunts this season.

$100 Reward.

In an effort to secure the arrest of the unknown persons who beat J. T. Farley nearly to death in Harlan county, Acting Gov. Cox offered a reward of $100. The County Judge also offered a reward of $50 and it is represented that the men can be caught with the aid of money.

Farley, an elderly man, lives in Louisville, and had gone to work for a railroad. He was suspected of being a detective for the temperance forces and one night he was beaten by a gang of men until he was almost dead.

The Governor also offered a reward of $100 for the arrest of Brack Johnson, wanted in Mason county on a charge of murder and now said to be a fugitive from justice.

MR. TAFT'S LETTER.

The much talked of Taft letter, which has been expected for many weeks, has at last been made public. It was addressed to W. B. McKinley, Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, and was prepared with the view of being a campaign document.

Ignoring the broken promises made to the people, before the election, he advises that "All Republicans who believe in the party principles as declared in its national platform of 1896 should give the candidates loyal and effective support."

On the tariff question he begs the insurgents for a suspension of judgment, saying "It seems to me that all Republicans conservative, progressive and radical, may well abide the situation with respect to the tariff until evidence now being accumulated, shall justify changes in the rates."

He reminds us of Col. Breckinridge, who was once defending a criminal case he had grave doubt about winning, and who, when asked by the Judge if it would be convenient for him to try the case in question that morning, responded: "One time is about as inconvenient as another, to try an inconvenient case."

We sincerely hope, from a Democratic standpoint, that this letter will be widely read, feeling confident a discriminating public will agree with us that it is a studied effort to say little in much space, instead of much in little space.

A DIVIDED HOUSE.

The Republican Administration at Frankfort seems to be emulating the example set at Washington, and much time is spent in internal strife and rivalry.

Every time Gov. Willson does anything, such as veto a Bank Examiners' Bill, Secretary of State, Ben L. Bruner, takes him to task, and when Lieutenant Gov. Cox is in charge of the Executive office, his acts are criticized by State Auditor Frank P. James.

The most recent outbreak was when Cox appointed L. L. Walker, of Garrard county, Circuit Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late M. C. Sausley. James promptly rushed into print, charging the appointment was made at the dictation of Senator Bradley and the "whiskey ring," and withdrawing his former pledge to support Cox for Governor.

James' enemies in turn charge him with nepotism, saying he has his office filled by his relatives, and wants the earth.

Thus the merry war goes on and the people pay the freight.

REPUBLICAN ZEAL.

No one can longer doubt that the Republican National Administration looks more zealously after the interests of the poor than of the rich. Didn't Secretary MacVough rule last week that when the wives of millionaires returned garments to be remodeled, to Worth, of Paris, France, duty should only be collected on the repairs and not on the value of the garments, as heretofore?

CIRCUIT COURT.

With the largest criminal docket our county has had in years, as well as a larger civil docket than usual, the September term of the Montgomery Circuit Court, which convenes next Monday, promises to be a lively one and indications are the transgressor will not find his pathway as smooth as he might prefer.

What a pity the Republican Editors of the Eleventh Congressional District, now waging war on Chief Powers, did not tell what they knew before the juries of their Commonwealth.

STATE COMMITTEES

To Meet At Lexington—September 10th Fixed as Date.

State chairman Henry R. Prewitt has issued the following calls for a meeting of the two State bodies to be held in Louisville. The State Executive Committee is called for the purpose of talking over the advisability of selecting a nominee for State Superintendent of Public Instruction to be voted for this fall, which the Democratic attorneys say should be done. The Republicans contend that the present officer will hold over.

"Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 27, 1910.
"Dear Sir:—You are hereby requested to attend a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee at the Leland Hotel, Lexington, Ky., at 10 o'clock a. m. September 10th to take such action with reference to the present campaign as may be advisable and to transact any and all business that may properly come before said meeting."

"Very truly yours,
"HENRY R. PREWITT, CHAIRMAN."

CANTRILL'S OPPONENT.

Commissioner of Agriculture Chosen By Republican Committee.

H. C. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture, has been nominated by the Republican Convention for Congress in the seventh Congressional District to oppose J. Campbell Cantrell, the Democratic nominee. The sub-committee of the Congressional Committee, composed of George J. Barnes, of Franklin, H. Clay Howard, of Bourbon, John Hutcheson of Owen and W. J. Manby of Oldham, met and recommended that Rankin be selected as the Republican nominee.

Mr. Rankin, who was present, accepted the nomination, saying that he would expect the vote of every Republican in the district and hoped to secure the votes of enough Democrats to elect him to a seat in Congress. He said if elected he would represent no interest other than that of the people and could be depended upon to do what was right at all times.

Chairman Stoll then made a speech in which he paid a compliment to Commissioner Rankin. Acting Governor Cox, who was at the hotel, was invited into the convention and he made a short speech saying that Rankin would be sure to win if the Republicans helped him to victory.

Supply Foreign Stamps.

A queer business in New York City is the supplying of current foreign postage stamps to business houses which want to send foreign mail with stamped envelope for returning the answer. Of course Uncle Sam's 50-cent stamp is no good in Siam, Siam, upper Rhodesia or the Falkland Islands, but a stamp of any of these countries of the equivalent value may be had for seven cents by going to one of the shops that sell them.

New English.
A true specimen of the Highlandman's difficulties with the English language: Farmer (who had instructed his Gaelic shepherd to look for a number of sheep that had wandered from the fold): "Well, Donald, have you found them?" "Aye, master." "Where did you get them?" "Well, I got two by myself, one together, and three among one of McIlberson's."—London Daily News.

Scheme to Sell Photos.

A man in the photograph business has a good scheme for selling his pictures. Every bright day he makes his headquarters at Riverside drive and Ninety-eighth street, where he snaps passing motorists. He takes a record of the license number, hunts up the owner, and if he was not in the auto party finds out who was. The sale of his pictures is an easy matter.—New York Sun.

Trinity in Early Days.

The west end of Trinity churchyard used to be a high bluff. It was a favorite resort for the inhabitants in that part of the town. From the top there was an uninterrupted view of the Hudson. It was in early days as much of a promenade as is Riverside at the present time.—New York Press.

SHIFTING OF THE CAPITAL

List of Cities Where the Seat of Government of the United States Has Been Located is Long.

At a dinner given by one of the prominent men of the town the other night the talk turned to the recent visit of President Taft to Chicago and the fact that it was announced that during his stay there his hotel was to be regarded as the executive mansion.

The president beamed complacently and during a temporary pause sprang this:

"I wonder if any of the gentlemen present can state, off hand, in what city or cities other than Washington the capital of the United States has been located."

"Well, now, it seems to me that I've heard my grandfather say something about New York and—and—wasn't it Trenton?" came from the benevolent old gentleman at the right side of the host.

Several of the dinner guests hazarded opinions, the president shaking his head at each.

Finally the young college man who had taken little part in the talk of market reports and real estate transactions broke with his becoming an embarrassing silence:

"Wasn't it Philadelphia from September 5, 1774, until December, 1775?" he modestly began.

"Right you are, young man, right you are, but Philadelphia isn't the only town to claim that honor," was the response given paternally.

"No, but it's been some little time since that came up in our history class and I'm afraid I've forgotten," said the young man, deprecatingly.

"But here is the list as I remember it. From Philadelphia to Baltimore, where it remained from December 20, 1776, to March, 1777; at Philadelphia from March 4, 1777, to September, 1777; at Lancaster, Pa., from September, 1777, to September 29, 1777; at York, Pa., from September 30, 1777, to July, 1778; at Philadelphia from July 2, 1778, to June 30, 1778; at Princeton, N. J., from July 30, 1778, to November 20, 1778; at Annapolis, Md., from November 26, 1778, to November 30, 1778; at Lancaster, Pa., from January 11, to 1779; and I think from there it went to Philadelphia, where it remained ten years. Anyway, from Philadelphia the seat of government was removed in 1800 to Washington, where it has been ever since."

"And there isn't one in a thousand of our citizens who knows all that," broke in the host. "Say, I guess a college education isn't so bad, after all, eh?"

Travesty of the Almshouse.
James O'Connell, writing in the June American Magazine about the terrible condition of the almshouses in the state of New York, says:

"What is an almshouse? One would naturally suppose it to be the last refuge of the old—men and women too, weak to work, alone in the world, homeless, friendless, penniless. One would expect to find the almshouse full of gentle old people, near death. Such people are in the almshouse. They have crept there to die. There they wait for their obscure lives, their humble destinies. They are the old and lowly tragedies of our packed world. But they are not alone with one another. I jotted down the following list from the Oneida county almshouse register:

"Old, Blind, Feeble-minded Intemperate, Sick, Cripple, Epileptic, Va. Grant, Lane, Pregnant."

"They are mixed in with one another. The decreed old, whose only crime is old age and misfortune, are herded in with unrepentant creatures. Imagine sleeping in a dormitory with babbling idiots, with jerky epileptics, with hardened, vicious criminals, and with consumptives. Imagine spending the day and eating one's meals with this strange company. Such conditions, to an outside observer, are inhuman, indecent and intolerable."

Just a Natural Development.
The woman aviator is developing in France. We read of her progress from time to time with a sense of confidence restored as regards the eternal fitness of things. Where else, indeed, could she develop, she and her costume? We wonder now many of the Parisian fraternity have begun working this new aerial road. But why wonder? It there is one thing the Worth-Rodden-Papin combine have never lacked it is foresight. And, after all, from barnyard denizens to the real fowls of the air requires only very tremendous flight of the imagination. The transition can be worked gradually, too. After character, turkey buzzard, say, would suggest itself, and then along the scale ascending until the final inevitable bird of prey due to be reached. To be in the question of eternal fitness, who can discover without a thrill of satisfaction that at least one of these lady flyers answers in public to the name of Bird? As yet statistics do not tell us how many of the rest may, privately, respond to "Birdie."

How He Fell.
A young lady who taught a class of small boys in the Sunday school decried to impress on them the meaning of returning thanks before a meal. Turning to one of the class, whose father was a deacon in the church, she asked him:

"William, what is the first thing your father says when he sits down to the table?"

"He says, 'Go slow with the butter kids; it's 40 cents a pound,'" replied the youngster.—Everybody.

What Not to Do With immigrants.

In the fiscal year that ended with June the number of immigrants admitted to this country again exceeded a million. In ten years we have received nine million immigrants—pretty nearly half of them from Austria-Hungary and Italy. Proper treatment of this alien horde presents a problem of some importance. About a fifth of them have given Pennsylvania as the State of their destination. There they are largely employed as unorganized laborers in mills and mines where fatal industrial accidents often occur. And in Pennsylvania the loss of an alien's life through industrial accident doesn't cost the employer a penny unless the alien has heirs living in this country.

About seventy per cent. of the immigrants are males above fourteen years of age. They come over here alone to gain a footing. If their lives are snuffed out in a mine explosion no one in this country is in a position to sue for damages, and their dependents living in Europe cannot maintain an action. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has so decided and the United States Supreme Court has upheld the decision. Making his life worthless is not, we submit, a proper method of making the immigrant a desirable citizen.

A minister from a Central American country and an American diplomatist who is prone to public discourse recently met at a dinner in Washington. The minister spoke little English and the diplomatist's Spanish was indifferent, so each used his own language in the conversation. They misunderstood one another for an hour on various topics, and finally the minister began telling of the tremendous usefulness of the humble burro in his own country, lamenting the abuse to which the little pack animal was subject. He lamented in Spanish, and very eloquently.

The American diplomatist listened intently, giving the impression that he understood everything that was being said.

"Quite right, quite right," the American exclaimed when the other had finished. "Diplomatists, sir, are born, not made by schooling. We are the true essence of the human race."

"Yes," replied the minister, with a pleased smile at what he understood the other to have said, "that is the true character of the burro. He is born, not made. He is both a worker and a philosophical diplomatist, although, I must say, his bray is sometimes harsh on musical ears."

Missing the Children.

A traveling man was stranded over Sunday in a small town in the West where there was a street fair in progress. He walked about and could find nothing to do until he came upon a place where various prizes were offered for knocking over rag dolls by throwing baseballs at them—three shots for a nickel.

He threw three balls and hit nothing. He tried three more and hit nothing. He invested several more nickels and still had no luck.

Finally he went back to his hotel in disgust and wrote to his wife:

"Dear Wife: You cannot imagine how lonesome I am here. Indeed, I have been missing the children all the afternoon."

Mystery.
S. B. Buckles, clerk at the Broadway Hotel in Louisville, died last Wednesday at the city hospital. The cause of his death was so mysterious that a post mortem was held to see if the cause of his death could be ascertained. He complained of feeling badly Tuesday and later became unconscious and was taken to the hospital. The physicians were unable to tell what his trouble was and he died Wednesday without regaining consciousness.

Butter at 29 Cents.
Elgin butter stands at 29 cents, which is 3¢ cents in excess of last year's price. It is difficult to understand that greater advances have not been secured, as cows are altogether on winter rations, plus the pest of flies and growing shortage of water. Factorymen are unable to meet their contracts, as the shrinkage in milk supply has been sharp. No more difficult task confronts the cattleman than checking a decreasing milk resulting from short pasture. Dairy-men about Chicago are preparing to demand a material advance in the winter price schedule.

Looks That Way.
We remember hearing of a little yellow dog that "happened to a painful accident"—his head was cut off. Is Sunny Jim to be cast for the part of that yellow dog?

A traveling man was stranded over Sunday in a small town in the West where there was a street fair in progress. He walked about and could find nothing to do until he came upon a place where various prizes were offered for knocking over rag dolls by throwing baseballs at them—three shots for a nickel.

He threw three balls and hit nothing. He tried three more and hit nothing. He invested several more nickels and still had no luck.

Finally he went back to his hotel in disgust and wrote to his wife:

"Dear Wife: You cannot imagine how lonesome I am here. Indeed, I have been missing the children all the afternoon."

Mystery.
S. B. Buckles, clerk at the Broadway Hotel in Louisville, died last Wednesday at the city hospital. The cause of his death was so mysterious that a post mortem was held to see if the cause of his death could be ascertained. He complained of feeling badly Tuesday and later became unconscious and was taken to the hospital. The physicians were unable to tell what his trouble was and he died Wednesday without regaining consciousness.

Butter at 29 Cents.
Elgin butter stands at 29 cents, which is 3¢ cents in excess of last year's price. It is difficult to understand that greater advances have not been secured, as cows are altogether on winter rations, plus the pest of flies and growing shortage of water. Factorymen are unable to meet their contracts, as the shrinkage in milk supply has been sharp. No more difficult task confronts the cattleman than checking a decreasing milk resulting from short pasture. Dairy-men about Chicago are preparing to demand a material advance in the winter price schedule.

Looks That Way.
We remember hearing of a little yellow dog that "happened to a painful accident"—his head was cut off. Is Sunny Jim to be cast for the part of that yellow dog?

Farmers and Automobiles.

That the prodigal farmer is likely to ruin the country has been pointed out several times of late by persons whose names carry weight in the highest financial circles.

"A large class of the American people are running wild in useless extravagance; they are buying several hundred million dollars' worth of automobiles annually," said, recently, an able banker who probably owns half a dozen of those ruinous contrivances himself.

He added that the farmers, whose economy had heretofore been our salvation, were now rioting in the front ranks of the wasteful crew. Another financier declared that:

"The mad desire of farmers for automobiles" had lost a single Western State millions of dollars.

No doubt, prosperity in this country has been overdone—that is, it has become so extensive that a good many of the people who create the country's wealth are now actually spending it. From the point of view of high finance that condition is dangerous; the ideal condition is one in which much wealth is produced, but its producers are unable to retain more than enough for their needs, thus leaving all superfluous spending to the manipulators of wealth, who, being comparatively few and intelligent, may be trusted to keep extravagance within safe bounds.

Even from the point of view of high finance the situation is far from desperate. The diamond-studded, tailor-clad, touring-car farmer is pretty much a myth. A five-cent cigar is still the limit of extravagance for a majority of those who produce the country's wealth. The forthcoming census report on average farm incomes will probably cause alarmed financiers to cheer up.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

Foot-and-Mouth in England.
Foot-and-mouth disease has broken out in Yorkshire, and our Department of Agriculture has barred importations of cattle and sheep from Britain for the time being. Stock not on the docks for shipment July 22 was refused embarkation permits. Some sheep importers had a narrow escape.

The embargo will likely not last long. The British Board of Agriculture deals swiftly and severely with all outbreaks of communicable animal diseases, and on notice of the trouble in Yorkshire attacked the problem with its accustomed vigor and thoroughness. When it declares the danger point passed our governmental officials will doubtless raise the embargo. Mystery attends the introduction of the disease. Reasoning by exclusion, the blame seems to have been rested on imported oil cake. While this disease causes considerable loss in wasting away of beef and milk, yet it is readily controlled and cleaned up. Vigilance and thoroughness are demanded in its handling, and officials on both sides the water understand this fact and act in accordance with it.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Mouscop, Conn.

Shaming Sarah.

In St. Louis the street numbers run one hundred to the block, but the north and south streets have names instead of numbers. So when a street car is running east and west and crosses the north and south streets the conductor says "Jefferson—Twenty-six" or "Grand—Thirty-six," as the case may be.

A birthday party was coming in on one of these cars a short time ago. When the car reached Sarah street and the conductor announced, "Sarah—Forty-one," a large woman in the party began beating a small man on the head with an umbrella.

After the conductor had quieted the disturbance he asked the woman what the row was about.

"Why," she said indignantly, "just because I had my forty-first birthday party today, in a nice, quiet, ladylike way, there was no need of him telling you how old I am, so you could bowl it out to the whole car."

Her name was Sarah.

Getting a Business Education.

In cities of eight thousand, and upward, more than a hundred thousand boys must drop out of grammar and high school every year and go to work. They don't expect much pay, but they do want to learn business. To "begin at the bottom and work up" is their ideal. In the larger cities a big contingent of this hopeful young army turns to the great offices, which seem to be the citadels of business; where they file letters, punch adding machines, make out card indexes, and so on, under the delusion that they are thereby learning business. These purely mechanical cores are no more business than running a passenger elevator is hydraulic engineering. There is no real business education where there is no discretion. Selling prunes in a crossroads grocery is more educational than copying figures in a big office, because it tends in some degree to develop judgment and initiative.

The big offices and banks are overrun with applicants, partly because they look so eminently respectable. Parents would rather entomb a son in the marble subcellar of the Mammoth National Bank—Mr. Scad's bank, you know—than confess to their friends that he was soliciting orders for a laundry. Business, essentially, is dealing with people. As a rule, the more opportunity you have to deal with people under conditions tending to develop judgment and initiative, the better business education you are getting. True, there must be somebody to perform the great mass of strictly mechanical clerical chores. Between 1890 and 1900 the number of female "bookkeepers and accountants" rose from twenty-seven thousand to seventy-four thousand. These are partly young women who want to earn a little pocket money until they get married. For them the adding machine in the big office provides a convenient opportunity.

Prices a Century Ago.

This spring wholesale prices of all the leading commodities, taken together, were forty-nine per cent. higher than in 1897. If your income was a thousand dollars then, and it cost you substantially all of it to live, you are probably worse off now, unless your income has increased to fifteen hundred dollars.

Over the problem which this suggests there has been endless discussion. To a degree it is an effect of higher civilization. A chief cause, no doubt, is increased gold production, and that is a result of scientific improvements in mining, in treating the ore and in transportation; but the same causes tend, on the whole, to make prices more stable, rising and falling more gradually than formerly, and to affect all staple articles somewhat alike.

A century ago, for example, the average annual price of wheat in Milan rose forty-five per cent. from one year to the next; but meat scarcely changed. A little later, in two years, wheat dropped from $2.56 a bushel—the average price of the year—to $1.39, while pork and butter rose. Going back another hundred years the variations were as abrupt and the high points meant sharp hunger for many. Between 1700 and 1800 the highest prices for wheat occurred during the Napoleonic wars. For a whole year—1801—the average was $2.72 a bushel. War and famine, rather than gold production, were the potent bull factors. In that small, comparatively isolated community the cause of price fluctuations might be more definitely traced than in our complex, boundaryless world. But it doesn't seem that anybody got any satisfaction out of tracing them.

Wanted 50 Men and Women.

W. S. Lloyd, the enterprising druggist, is advertising today for fifty men and women to take advantage of the special half price offer he is making on Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia and get a fifty cent package at half price, 25 cents.

So positive is he of the remarkable power of this specific to cure these diseases, as well as sick headaches and liver troubles, that he agrees to refund the money to any customer whom this medicine does not quickly relieve and cure.

With Dr. Howard's specific at hand, you can eat what you want and have no fear of ill consequences. It strengthens the stomach, gives perfect digestion, regulates the bowels, creates an appetite, and makes life worth the living.

This is an unusual opportunity to obtain 60 doses of the best medicine ever made for half its regular price, with the personal guarantee of a well known business man to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

Bedwell and Markland Are Both Turned Down.

Death Roll of Forest Fires in West Totals 203.

The following is a revised tabulation of the dead in the North-western forest fires:
United States fire fighters in and near Idaho, 86.
Montana deaths, including Bullion Mine, 13.
At Newport, Washington, 3.
At Wallace, Idaho, 4.
Near Avery, Idaho, probably settlers, 47.
At Mullan, Idaho, 2.
At Spokane, Washington, 1.
On Big Creek, Idaho, 47.
Total, 203.

GRAVE FEARS FOR OTHERS.

With eighty-six employees of the forest service known to be dead and grave fears felt for a number of others, who are missing, the headquarters of the Custer-Alone foresters at Wallace anxiously awaits news from the relief expedition sent to rescue Ranger Jos. B. Hall and eighty-four men who have not been heard from since Saturday, when they were on the headwaters of St. Joe.
With the opening of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad into the St. Joe Valley, discouraging news is beginning to come out. It appears that six hundred men were at work on St. Joe, last Saturday, when the wind blew the flames through the canyon.

FORTY-SEVEN LIVES LOST.

Apparently truthful accounts of the loss of forty-seven of the men were received Thursday.
Near Avery, forty-seven bodies have been found and ten Japanese, four negro soldiers and an unknown number of settlers are missing.

Sixty-five men, natives of the Mediterranean country, arrived in Spokane from Big Creek and said that fifteen Austrians and two American choppers were burned to death last Saturday.

The Austrians were undertaking to back the fire, but their work was so unsuccessful that they were killed by the fire they themselves had just lighted, which ran back on them and drove them against the wall of flame advancing from the opposite direction.

Concrete Facts.

Pulverized wood is sometimes mixed with cement for making what is known as wood concrete. This is lighter than concrete that is made with sand. Straw, sawed and hay are also pulverized for use instead of wood. The pulverized product is very much like sawdust. The chief advantage of wood concrete over ordinary concrete is that it is soft enough to permit of nails being driven into it.

Sunday Irregularity.

Physicians will tell you that upsetting the regular habits (let us hope the habits are regular) of the week on Sunday, eating more than is good for you, taking more or no exercise, all works toward indigestion, the results of which are felt through the following week until Sunday comes again, when the process is repeated.

Sizing Up His "Load."

Parganas had occasion recently to speculate as to whether a drunken man was such an idiot. He was standing on a penny weighing machine endeavoring to insert a coin in the slot. He said he wanted to weigh himself to see how much of a "load" he had.—Fargo Forum.

The Sewing Machine Belt.

Shrink your machine strap with a drop of oil if it loosens and ays. A cloth well oiled and rubbed thoroughly upon the whole length of the strap will cause it to tighten, or seemingly to tighten, by holding more closely to the metal as the wheel turns.

Mahogany and Cedar in Ashanti. It is estimated that the gold coast and Ashanti could supply 60,843 logs of mahogany and cedar a year if the internal communication were better. With mechanical haulage, such as traction engines and light railways, the output could be increased to some 250,000 logs per annum without depleting the natural reserves.

On Record.

We desire to go on record right now as being of the firm opinion that a literary woman who wants to be loved should see to it that her face-jacks are the equal of her sonnets and her corned beef hash every bit as good, if not better than her essay on Browning.—Exchange.

Largest Rose Tree.

Germania claim to possess the largest rose tree in Europe. It is found in Herr Wehrle's garden at Freiburg. It extends 115 feet at the top and forms a spacious bower. Originally it was a wild rose, on which a Chromatella tea rose was grafted in 1881.

Marriage in Germany.

In Germany marriages by any foreign consular officer are strictly prohibited—except where they are special treaty stipulations.

About Beans.

The bean that we eat in some form nearly every day, that almost every body likes, is comparatively new as an edible. Our common, everyday bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe, whence it came to this country, during the sixteenth century, and now is represented by more than 150 cultivated varieties. The big, broad bean is the bean of history and its origin is so remote that it is doubtful. It is probably a native of southwestern Asia and northeastern Europe.

Protecting Oyster Beds.

The London Lancet says that English oyster beds are now being very carefully protected from sewage contamination, whereas few foreign beds receive this protection.

Useless Statistics.

Some statisticians have figured out that Americans lose $10,000,000 yearly by leaving sugar in the bottom of their coffee cups. Of course they don't, but still there is a certain fascination about statistics. They are so strikingly useless.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Godsend.

An esteemed German who draws a well earned salary from the city of New York, says the Sun, was talking about a case of sudden death the other day. It was due to an accident. It was nobody's fault. It was a veritable bolt from a clear sky. All this had impressed the German deeply. "Vv," he said awesomely, "it was a regular Godsend."
